

February 2011

Our second newsletter brings you information on 12 new colours added to the pre-dyed range as well as information from other weavers.

Happy New Year from Lin and Matty

All the blues...

Six subtle shades of blue have been added to the pre-dyed range of colours. It is really difficult to capture these accurately in print but we are very excited about the fine quality of variation across the range. What do you think of them? We would love to hear your feedback on developing ranges of shades within the same colour.

New rug weight colours

Five new rug weight yarns are now available, three rich red/purples and two really useful base colours. These will create a rich weave either woven together or in combination with other colours from the weaversbazaar range. They will become available in the finer yarn weights very soon.

What's in and what's out?

Weaversbazaar website pre-dyed page has a new traffic light system that shows which colours are in stock and which are in the process of being reordered. Any yarns shown as 'out of stock' can be pre-ordered as we will have them on a four to five week replacement order. We hope this will enhance your use of the website.

Weaves from the Netherlands

Jo-Anna Meijer (<http://www.atelierdesloep.nl/>) in Holland, weaves her tapestries on a high warp loom with silk and woolen wefts over cotton warps. The woolen yarns she uses are hand spun and hand dyed. This set of weaves has the theme of Saints and Demons, and was inspired by Ethiopian motifs. We were delighted that Jo-Anna was happy for us to share them with you and would be delighted to see more from you!
